late President McKinley, but Marquis Ito could not wait.

Singapore from Sourabaya.

was delivered in London on the 21st inst.

Military Assistant Surgeons on Field Service in South Africa and China are to be restricted to those in employ.

THE 12TH BATTERY, Royal Field Artillery, soon as arrangements can be made to ship them. The 4th Punjab Infantry remain in China until the spring.

A NEW YORK CHINAMAN, according to an American paper, has added a new and most unusual feature to the residence of his countrymen in the United States. He has turned highwayman and is ready to accept the customary ransom.

WALDERSEE RE-ARDED: Colonel Count Sturegg, Austro-Hungarian Military Attaché at Berlin, has handed to Count von Waldersee, on behalf of the Emperor Francis Joseph, the Grand Cross of the Order of St.
Stephen, set in brilliants.

MR. HUGH CLIFFORD'S HEALTH is so unsatisfactory he will be compelled to return to Europe. Mr. Clifford had already made a very favourable impression in Selangor, and his relinquishment of the office of Resident will be universally regretted.

CAPTAIN BERGER, of the Hongkong Regiment, is mentioned in despatches by General Gaselee as having been most energetic and successful in the suppression of brigandage. Doubtless Captain Berger's experience in the New Territory stood him in good stead.

THE CHINA MERCHANTS' STEAMER Kiangfoo arrived at Shanghai safely from River Ports the other day. She had been ashore for three days on Cooper Bank in the Yangtze River. The Company's steamer Fungshun was sent up to lighten her of cargo, and by this means she was successfully floated.

P. NIELSEN, the chief engineer of the German vessel Triton, was charged before Capt.
Boldero, at Singapore with refusing to obey the commands of those in authority. He said he would not obey, or serve under the chief mate, who was an Englishman, and had just joined the ship. Nielsen was sentenced to six weeks rigorous imprisonment.

THE FEDERAL HOUSE of Representatives in Australia have adopted a clause in the Immigration Restriction Bill prohibiting the entry into the Commonwealth of any person under contract to perform manual labour. The education test has been amended to include any European language. A Bill has been drafted to exclude Pacific Islanders after 1904.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has decided that the tragedy of President McKinley's assassination, by which he attained the position of President of the United States, eliminates his candidature for the Presidency at the election which takes place in 1904. He adds: "If I fail in my present duties, I cannot hope for future honors, and I shall fail if I give any thought to matters beyond the actual task I have undertaken."

A GREAT DURBAR:—Private advices received in Calcutta state that, although the proclamation of the King as Emperor of India will not take place for another 15 months, arrangements for the great Durbar at Delhi are already being made. The ceremony will unquestionably afford the most magnificent spectacle ever witnessed in India, as representatives from every Eastern nation and State will be present. The date has not yet been fixed.

ANOTHER LINK with the late Sovereign is about to be destroyed. This is the Elfin, the little steam yacht which for so many years carried Queen Victoria's despatches between Portsmouth Harbour and Cowes when Her Majesty was staying at Osborne. The Elfin was officially known as "tender to the Victoria and Albion," but her popular nickname was "The Milk Boat," a title bestowed on her by some naval officers in consequence of her punctuality in completing the short journey.

A FUNNY INCIDENT happened in a little church in Tasmania recently, says a correspondent of Cricketer. The parish clerk was a great enthusiast as well as a notable umpire. One hot Sunday he was doing in his official desk at Church, dreaming doubtless of the great match to be played next day. At the close of the sermon, when the time came for him to pronounce his customary "Amen," he astonished the minister, and highly delighted the congregation, by shouting, in stentorian tone,
"Over."

EARTHQUAKE IN SCOTLAND:—On 18th ultimo, a severe shock of earthquake was felt over a wide area in the North of Scotland, embracing Inverness-shire, Aberdeen, Banff, Nairn, and Sutherland. In the town of Inverness the shock seemed to have been experienced with more severity than elsewhere, the walls of houses being torn asunder and considerable damage done to property. Many of the citizens were greatly alarmed and rushed into the streets partially clad, unable at first to comprehend the nature of the occurrence. It is a remarkable coincidence that on Sept. 17, exactly 100 years ago, there was an earthquake in precisely the same area of the country.

IN DESCRIBING SCENES on Japanese railways a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine says when a native lady enters the carriage she slips her feet from her tiny shoes, stands upon the seat, and then sits down demurely with her feet doubled beneath her. When the ticket-collector, attired in a blue uniform, enters the carriage he removes his cap and twice bows politely. He repeats the bows as he comes to each passenger. It is very pretty and polite on the part of the ticket-collector, but imagine the long-drawn-out agony of a journey on the South-Eastern, further prolonged while the ticket-collectors pause to bow and scrape before each passenger.

A FUNERAL SERVICE, with full military honour, over the remains of the late Veterinary-Surgeon Blaesmann, of the German Garrison, Shanghai, who met his death through being kicked by a mule, took place at the New Cemetery on 16th inst. in the presence of a large number of officers and men from the various garrisons and men-of-war in Shanghai. The funeral service in the chapel was conducted by the Rev. Pastor Hackmann, at the close of which a squad of men from the German garrison, standing outside the chapel, fired three volleys. The coffin was decorated with numerous beautiful wreaths sent by deceased brothers, officers, and friends of the various garrisons, men-of-war and friends.
The remains were understood to be sent to deceased's home in Germany.

THE HON. H. E. POLLOCK K. C.

A COLONIAL APPOINTMENT.
The news reached Hongkong this morning that our Acting Attorney General had been appointed Attorney General for Fiji at a salary of £600 a year and private practice allowed.
We sincerely congratulate Mr. Pollock on his advancement as a thoroughly deserved reward for his unremitting toil in the public interest.
A great deal of work has been performed in a quiet, unostentatious manner, and only the amount and importance of it is known to those behind the scenes. Mr. Pollock will probably leave the Colony some time in December, on the arrival of Mr. Goodman.

THE CANTON OPIUM CASE between the French authorities and the Imperial Maritime Customs has not yet been settled and it is confidently spoken of, amongst the best informed circles, as going to be a win for France. This at the present juncture is a side light on the state of affairs up the West and Pearl Rivers.

MR. E. C. WILKS has resigned from the Hongkong Dock Company and is commencing business as a consulting engineer. Mr. Wilks is so well and favourably known and his ability in his profession has been so fully established, that we predict the greatest success for any business into which he may embark.

LI HUNG CHANG:—It is only fitting, says a mail paper, that the greatest millionaire should have the most peculiar hobby, and that individual is Li Hung Chang.
Few people are aware that many of the pawnshops in China are financed by the great Li, but such is the case. He has already invested more than ten millions in them.

DEATH OF MR. E. ROBINSON.

We regret to have to record the sudden death of another member of the Hongkong bar in the person of Mr. Edward Robinson, who died at the Government Civil Hospital at 5 minutes passed fourth morning. Mr. Robinson, like the late Mr.
J. J. Francis, K.C., wound up a busy summer with a trip to Japan, in order to recuperate during the vacation. On the passage north he was attacked by dysentery, the ill effects of which were aggravated by a severe chill caught while travelling inland from Shanghai. On reaching Yokohama, Mr. Robinson experienced no relief and returned to Hongkong in a very weak state, as announced by us on his arrival. He almost at once was removed to Hospital and the end came this morning.

Mr. Robinson was the son of the well known Barrister of the same name in Shanghai, and came to Hongkong about fourteen years ago to commence a practice of his own. He was a man of undoubted ability and took infinite pains with any case put in his hands. By his hard work and integrity he earned the respect of the entire community, who had reposed great trust in his painstaking nature and honest judgment.

THE VOLUNTEER CAMP.

The principal event of the encampment took place last night. At first we were going to write, last evening, but that would exaggerate the importance of "Lights out." A concert was organised and friends invited, who turned up in good numbers with thirsts. Amongst others who contributed to the entertainment, Mr. R. G. Heckford was easily first and made the matchless ring (if a matchless can ring) with the unstinted applause with which his efforts were received—possessing a good presence he sang "Gallery and Boxes" with great effect, his assumption of the manner and language of the occupants of the boxes in a Theatre being imitated as perfectly as the twang of the gallery was natural. Mr. P. Langley was another good number, and Mr. Ley Kum's rendering of "Because" was exceedingly good. Mr. Tyrrel found the surroundings rather trying, but this could not mar his finely trained baritone.
The soldiers got to bed safely so as to catch the first launch in the morning and are intent on a fresh effort for Saturday night.

SANITARY BOARD RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The dissatisfaction noted some months ago in this Department shows no signs of abating.
Resignations occur frequently as no Inspector can withstand the temptation of getting out of the service if he can possibly get any other situation. Men who have been labouring for years and have their Hongkong at their finger tips are growing deeply at innocents being engaged in England at £150 a month with compensation viz. 3/- to the dollar for half the pay, £40 allowance for quarters and a Chinese teacher provided free to teach them what the present locally engaged men are paying $10 a month for. The men engaged at home may be A 1 at their calling, yet nine-tenths of their knowledge goes for naught in a colony like Hongkong. The man who knows every nook and cranny of this home of filth is comparatively of far more value than the new chum possibly can be and moreover is not afraid of our yearly epidemic. The Sanitary Board is exactly the same as the Police, the Gaol and subordinate officers generally right through the Government Service, expecting too much for too little money. The solution of the difficulty is only to be found in one direction, namely, more pay to the man who risks his life in every stinking hole he enters, more to the man who tackles a fire and carries out human beings from beneath crumbling walls, more to the man who watches at night to safeguard our interests and performs many a plucky act of which nothing is heard, and more to him who puts up with the drear monotony of a life in the Gaol.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

Yau San hid four mace of prepared opium in a match-box under a bed, and he was sent to prison, for three weeks for unlawful possession.

TOO CLOSE TO BE PLEASANT.

Five Chinese boatmen laid with their boats alongside the French man of war Dredne with out the permission of the officer in charge, and they were each fined $5.

THEY DIDN'T KNOW.

A couple of boatmen anchored over the telegraph cable from the Tai Kok Tsui to Stone-cutters and though they pleaded ignorance were they fined $5.

TWO CASES OF A CASE.

Lo Tsak style a silver cigarette case, value $12, the property of Capt. Lyle, R.A. and was sent to prison for six weeks with hard labour.
Li Tsat, for receiving the cigarette case, goes to gaol for a similar term.

AN UNPROFITABLE DEAL.

Lum Kun Hing, an aged coolie, stole two cheques or bank drafts, value $1,500, from the dead body of a Chinese woman. He said he picked them up and as he could not read he took them to a man who told him their value. He afterwards got rid of them for $80 and prison.

THREE MEN IN A BOAT.

Three men belonging to a cargo boat were charged with being unlawfully possessed of a cable chain, value $20, reasonably suspected of having been stolen. Evidence given showed that two of the prisoners were seen lowering the chain from a steamer into their boat. It was afterwards identified as a fathom chain belonging to the s.s. Dardanus; one of the men was discharged and the other two were each sent to prison for six weeks with hard labour.

A GLIMPSE OF UTOPIA.

I slept, and sleeping I dreamed a dream Of smiling and fruitful lands, Where police were an unknown quantity,
And they wot not German Bands.
T'was a picturesque, glorified London Unfolded before my eyes, The underground railway had ceased to run,
And the fogs had cleared from the skies.
I came to the Strand at the fall of eve,
The hour of twilight sweet,
And I saw no 'maids of the golden hair' Parading the peaceful street;
I heard no shrieking news-vendors cry, No organ assailed my ear;
And the 'busses pulled up to let me cross,
And their drivers forbore to swear!
I lied to the suburbs' sylvan glades, Where the rent-free villas stood,
Where the tax collector never came,
And the drains were always good;
I dreamed as I sat on the close-cropped lawn, That a long procession came Of friends who had borrowed my books and cash, And had come to return the same!
And books which I'd long given up as lost, Were returned to me quite intact;
And friends who had borrowed umbrellas of me, In penitence brought them back.
And coins and notes they poured in my lap, Old debts they'd forgotten to pay,
And each one hoped I was not annoyed At their shameful, wicked delay.
My tailor advanced like a birch of spring,
And hoped I'd forget his bill;
'Quite grieved to have pained my bending it,' And I murmured with joy, 'I will.'
It seemed my birthday had come again, For my wife brought up the rear—
With a box of choice Havana cigars, (Which I paid for myself each year).
'I've bought you a birthday present George' My loving help-mate spoke,
She flaunted the bill; 'Receipted! I gasped, And with that last shock I woke.
Then memories came of the butcher's bill, Presented by him that day,
And I knew with a sigh, he never would wait, But where was the money to pay?
Ah me! the terrible ironies That comes to us in a dream, That make the contrasts look more severe,
And life more painful seem;
Why do you come to taunt us thus,
With gleams of a peaceful life, Then wake us to list to the baby's squalls,
Or the tongue of a scolding wife? VERA.

CANTON NOTES.

CANTON, October 23rd.

THE FISH GUILD STRIKE.
The strike of the fish guilds came to an end yesterday. A proclamation by the Viceroy stated that the contract for the reclamation of the river front did not take in the river in front of the fish shops and that the contractors must not go beyond the boundary stated in the contract. The Nam Hoi also issued a proclamation that the fish dealers must make the best they can out of the situation. They would be allowed to rent the land when reclaimed and if this did not satisfy them other markets for fish would be opened. So the fish dealers reopened their shops, having practically gained nothing by the strike.

EXAMINATIONS.

The result of the late examinations for M.A., Ku Yan, will be made known to-morrow. The Governor has gone into the Examination Hall to superintend the preparation of the list of successful candidates and will remain until the lists are ready for posting. The number of men who wrote was 14,000 and of these only 176 will be allowed to pass.

TAX ON ANCESTRAL TEMPLES.

Notice has been sent out that all Ancestral Temples are to be taxed. Six districts are mentioned in which the tax is to be levied. They are Tung Kun, Shui Tak, Heung Shan, Sun U, Nam Hoi, and Pun U. This seems to be a new way in which to raise a revenue. However, the officials are constantly on the alert to find something upon which they can lay their hands which has not been already taxed.

HOUSE TAX.

Contrary to expectations the house tax is being collected. There is no hurry or fuss about the collection of the tax. Those who are willing to pay are taken first and those who are not ready or show no inclination to pay are passed by for the present. When a house has paid a notice is posted in a conspicuous place stating that the tax has been paid.

VLADIVOSTOCK.

PORT ARTHUR HARBOUR.

According to reports from Port Arthur a number of dredging machines belonging to the Naval Department have commenced work there with the purpose of deepening and widening the western part of Port Arthur harbour, which is to be altered to allow anchorage for battleships and big warships. It has also been decided to construct a channel through the Isthmus of the Tigre Peninsula; so that in the near future, Port Arthur will have direct communication with the sea, which will be of great importance for both military and commercial purposes.

MURDER.

A few days ago a band of Chinese marauders appeared near the railroad station Muren of the Chinese Eastern Railway, and attacked the house of a constructor of the railway, named Elijah Sokoleff, wounding him so severely that he died. The murderer's success in escaping. The family of the deceased, consisting of his wife and five children, will receive an insurance of Rs. 10,000 from the St. Petersburg Insurance Co.

AND PILLAGE.

On 27th September, at the railroad junction "Lia-Okehe," near the station "Pogranitchina," of the Chinese Eastern Railway, an attack was made unexpectedly by a band of 200 Chinese. The residents were brutally treated and their belongings devastated. Six persons were killed and a number wounded. One railroad contractor was brought to the local hospital with a wound in his head and two in one of his legs. His two little daughters were fatally wounded; one receiving a bullet in her head and the other in the lower part of the abdomen. The nurse of these children was also killed.

TURKEY.

Bad news is again being received from Turkish Armenia. Numerous bands of murderous Kurds have anew commenced their bloody work of killing unprotected Armenians. Certain prominent Armenians have applied by wire to the Sultan for protection.

THE LATE TYPHOON.

THE "BABELSBERG" DISABLED.

The Nagasaki Press has the following details of the sufferings of the German steamer Babelsberg in the recent typhoon:—

The condition in which several vessels have arrived at this port within the last few days testifies to the severity of the recent typhoon in these waters. The German steamer Babelsberg, from Karatsu, entered this harbour on Wednesday morning in a storm-battered condition, and the wonder is how the captain and crew managed to navigate the vessel here. The Babelsberg left Karatsu on Saturday last with a cargo of coal for Manila. When about 36 hours out, she was caught by the typhoon and had a terrible experience. She had on board 3,400 tons of coal, a portion of which shifted during the storm, causing the vessel to list. Had the coal not been properly stowed on board at Karatsu, it is very probable that the vessel would not have weathered the typhoon. Heavy seas swept the ship from stem to stern and the cabin windows on the listed side were smashed by the waves, the contents of the rooms being irretrievably ruined. The engine-room was flooded, and at one time matters were very critical, as the firemen were on the point of leaving the stokehold, their position being almost untenable. To make matters worse, the vessel began to leak and four feet of water were recorded in the hold. All available hands were sent to the pumps, but the work of pumping was very difficult, as the coal dust had penetrated into the water and clogged the pumps. The sounding-pipe, astern of the after hold, was forced up during the storm, and smashed up a portion of the deck, wrenching screws and woodwork away as if they had been matchwood. All the rooms on the main deck are in a terribly battered condition, and it was only their stoutness that prevented them from being swept away. Two large ships' boats were washed away and one of them was smashed to pieces by being dashed against the boom. Some idea of the force of the waves may be gathered when it is stated that one of the steam derricks was fractured by a wave and other portions of ironwork were twisted and bent. The vessel presents a truly deplorable spectacle as she now lies in harbour, and many weeks must elapse before she will be ready for sea again. Her cargo of coal is being removed, so that the leak may be located, and the vessel will then go into dock for survey and repairs.

NOTES ON NATIVE AFFAIRS.

[FROM THE "N.C.D. NEWS"]

The Nanking Contingent to Japan

A Nanking dispatch states, in reference to the officers selected by Viceroy Liu Kun-yi to go to Japan to witness the army manoeuvres there in response to an invitation from the Japanese Government, that Viceroy Liu has appointed the following officials, namely, the Tsinan T'ao and Tu, General Yang and Colonel Lung, and that these four officials left Nanking for Shanghai on the 17th inst., to catch the Japanese mail for that country. Governor Nish of Soochow has also selected two officials, a Tsinan and a General, to go to Japan for the same purpose.

Reform Measures in Lower Kiangsu.

Dispatches received from Soochow report that Governor Nish of that city has received from the Grand Council through the Board of War couriers the authenticated official copy of the recent Imperial decree commanding the abolishment of Wenchang and the turning of all public colleges of the old régime into schools and colleges of Western learning throughout the Empire. In obedience to the instructions contained in the authenticated copy to the above decree, without which, in spite of the telegraph, the provincial high officials dare not feel authorised to move in any matter, Governor Nish at once ordered dispatches to be written to all the civil authorities under his jurisdiction of Kiangnan, or Lower Kiangsu, commanding all to obey the decree in question and inaugurate the necessary reforms without delay.

Executions in Soochow.

Another Soochow dispatch reports the decapitation in that city on the 14th instant, of four men who had been the ringleaders, while confined in the Wuhien (Soochow) district magistrate's yamen for various minor offences, in a recent serious attempt to break gaol amongst the prisoners. The severity of the punishment given was due to the fact that it was confessed by most of the prisoners concerned that it was intended, after killing the prison guard on duty at the time, a dash should be made to murder the magistrate and pillage the treasury which had recently been filled with the autumn land taxes.

Still Uncertain.

Although, looking at the preparations going on for the reception of the Court at Peking and the putting to rights of the route by which the Court will have to travel if ever it should return to the old capital, it would strike the casual observer that the Court, after all, must be intending to reach Peking before mid-winter, making but a short stay at K'ai-feng, the fact is the country has been so often disappointed at the frequent failures of the Empress Dowager in keeping her word as to the return to Peking that no one can be blamed for still remaining sceptical and refusing to believe the story that the Emperor and Empress Dowager intend to reach Peking before the middle of December next. A Northern dispatch further states that the Chinese Plenipotentiaries have telegraphed from Peking to Tungkuang praying their Majesties to "keep trust" and celebrate the festival of the Winter Solstice (21st December)—which is the beginning of the Manchu New Year—in Peking, the ancestral capital of the Manchu dynasty, instead of, as hitherto reported at K'ai-feng, the old capital of the Chinese Sung dynasty, "in order that the whole Empire may rejoice at the inauguration of a new and prosperous era for the sacred dynasty."

A Look of Permanency.

A K'ai-feng dispatch states that from the work in progress in that city preparatory to the arrival of the Court from Hsian, it is evident that there is an attempt at producing a replica of the yamens of Peking in K'ai-feng. Besides the offices destined for the regular Six Boards and the more important Ministries and Courts, many of which are intended to be amalgamated or incorporated with each other on economical grounds soon after the arrival of the Court, there is also a yamen destined for the occupation of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Attached to this Ministry there has been appointed a permanent staff of telegraph operators, who expect to remain in K'ai-feng two years at least. The Chinese army corps of 25,000 men of all arms—an altogether distinct body from the Manchus comprising the Peking Field Force and the personal command of Yung Lu, bearing the name of the Hsueh Army or "Glorious Tigers"—are to be housed in apparently permanent quarters specially built for them outside the city walls; so also the Manchus above-mentioned, who are to be quartered round about the Palaces and number another 25,000 to 30,000 men at the present moment. The expression "at the present moment" is here used with an object, for at the flight of the Court in August, 1900, from Peking, these "brave and loyal defenders" of the Throne made themselves exceedingly scarce. Not quite a thousand were found at the side of the Empress Dowager when she arrived at Taiyuan, Shanxi, the numbers being only trebled by the time she started for Hsian, three months after the flight from Peking. The remaining "small balance" of some 25,000 as pay-drawers, as their recent Commanders and officers tried to explain to the wrathful Empress Dowager afterwards, at Hsian, who joined the Court between October and last year, and August of this, had been prevented from doing so in the meantime "owing to the lack of the wherewithal to pay for the heavy travelling expenses required for so many thousands of men of country." Travelling was therefore "unavoidably slow, the men and officers being compelled to subsist on the country people and what they could get from the local authorities on route." One can understand how these cowardly Manchus "subsisted" on the country on route, from the frequent complaints of officials and people to the Governor of Shanxi, who had at last to give a large sum for their transport to Hsian.

PALAWAN.

The Sultan of Sulu has granted Prince Poniatowski (a French subject) a concession to develop the resources of Palawan, the southernmost of the Philippine islands. The papers bearing upon the concession are now at Washington, where the matter is under consideration. Prince Poniatowski is at present in San Francisco, where he is well-known, being a director in the Crocker Woolworth bank. Should the validity of the concession be admitted by the U. S. Government, it is intended thoroughly and systematically to develop and exploit the island. Should the validity of the concession be denied, then the corollary follows that the Sultan of Sulu is not autocratic, but holds his sovereignty under the United States, and cannot act independently. It is said that the Sultan is inclined to resent any attempt at interference, and the result of denying him the right to make the concession might possible end in war.—Straits Times.

THE TREASON TRIAL OF BROEKSMAN IN JOHANNESBURG.

WHO WAS EXECUTED RECENTLY.

JOHANNESBURG, September 12th. The trial was here begun to-day of Cornelis Broeksmas, a Hollander, and formerly Public Prosecutor here, on the charges of breaking the oath of neutrality, treachery, and treason. The president of the Court was Colonel Ball, of the Welsh Regiment. The evidence consisted, wholly of documents found in the house of the accused. It included a long printed pamphlet in Dutch for distribution among the Boers who are still fighting. The pamphlet recommends all Boers in the field to take an oath to continue shooting Englishmen as long as God gives them breath. Two hundred copies of the pamphlet have been printed, and all but a very few have been distributed. The documents comprise letters to Dr. Leyds, under the name of Dr. Williamson, care of the American Consul. The Hague, and letters to and from Dr. Krause having direct reference to an organized campaign in England to influence public opinion. Mr. Broeksmas suggesting that Dr. Krause should communicate with the pro-Boer Press.

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 12th. At the trial of Mr. Broeksmas to-day profound sensation was caused in the Court when a type-written document was read, signed by Lewis Botha, purporting to be a proclamation to the officers of the two Republics desiring them not to be uneasy over Lord Kitchener's proclamation, and adding that after deliberation among the fighting generals it had been decided that after September 15th Lord Kitchener, his staff, and all British officers should be declared out-laws; and all Burghers, whether in the Cape Colony, Natal, the Free State, or the South African Republic, were ordered to kill by shooting any armed Englishmen whom they encountered. Another letter, dated from London in March last and signed "F.K." (the initials of Dr. Krause) mentions the writer's scorn of the arrogance and pride of the British, stigmatizes Lord Milner as "such a scoundrel," and concludes by saying "There will be a better Ireland in South Africa after the war."—London Times, Sept. 16.

NEW RUSSIAN IMPOST.

BRITISH SHIPOWNERS WILL BE SEVERELY HIT.

The South Russian journals announce, on apparently semi-official authority, that from January 1st next the lastage dues on all foreign vessels trading to Russian ports will be increased twenty-fold (one last represents two tons of the net tonnage of a vessel). Assuming this announcement to be correct, it means that in future a British steamer carrying 3,500 or 4,000 tons of grain from a Russian port must pay from six hundred to eight hundred pounds, instead of from thirty to forty pounds. The vast importance of such an impost to British shipowners will be readily understood when it is remembered that some 5,000 British steamers clear every year from the Black Sea, the Sea of Azov, and Russian Baltic ports. It is, of course, an open secret that the Russian Exchequer is now grievously straitened, but it seems almost incredible that M. Witte should even dream of imposing such a prohibitively excessive tax upon foreign shipping. For Russia's great staple industry of grain exports this project is simply suicidal. It were otherwise if Russia possessed a great mercantile fleet of her own. Before January 1st next the Minister of Finance, it is to be hoped, will see fit to abandon a project which would prove equally as hurtful to the private interests of British and other foreign shipowners.—Express.

ELASTIC EDUCATIONAL INSTRUCTIONS.

The revised instructions which have been issued by the Board of Education for the elucidation of the new code are remarkable for the spirit of freedom and elasticity which runs through the whole compilation, says a home paper. Thus, in allocating the two rates of grant, the Board will, we are told, decide which, if either, of these two shall be paid, after considering the report and recommendations of the inspector on each of the four following points:—(a) The suitability of the instruction to the circumstances of the children and the neighbourhood; (b) the thoroughness and intelligence with which the instruction is given; (c) the sufficiency and suitability of the staff; (d) the discipline and organization. The first test is a new one, and will give teachers and managers the opportunity of varying the instruction given in accordance with the needs of the locality. Hitherto little difference has been made between town and country schools, with the result that school work has too often been a thing apart from the ordinary life of the child. Now, however, those responsible for the carrying on of the schools are to be encouraged to carve out their own schemes of instruction, and to experiment with a freedom hitherto unknown. The teachers "may, if they choose, deviate a little from the routine which has become a second nature, or they may introduce innovations both numerous and various." Similarly the inspectors are freed from the chains of examinations, and will judge of the success of the instruction by observation of the habits of the children, and examination of the papers worked under the supervision of the teachers of the classes. It will, no doubt, be some time before teachers and managers will have the courage to break through the weight of custom; but the ultimate result of the new policy of elasticity cannot fail to be of the highest value both in humanising the instruction given, and in bringing the school into closer relation with the child's life and prospects.

THE YELLOW DANGER.

CHINESE ARMING EXTENSIVELY.—A PEKING RESIDENT'S STATEMENTS.

A resident of Peking who has just arrived in Calcutta, has been interviewed by a representative of the Englishman. He affirms that there will be another gigantic rising in China, compared to which the recent troubles will be a trifle. China is arming, and before the outbreak she had large arsenals crammed with guns and munitions of war. The factories, in which guns and munitions of war were made, and the arsenals, are now being emptied, and the contents distributed. The factories are working night and day, and the sources of information with regard to the distribution of arms are three.

There are letters from Chinese traders and Christians in the interiors and the evidence of Missionaries and travellers show that many boat-loads of arms are being sent up the Yangtze from the arsenal near Shanghai, where for some years hundreds of thousands of Mausers have been stored. Again, from Hankow to Peking there runs a great high road, along part of which the railway has been laid. Travellers have seen wagons crammed to the top with Mausers passing along the railway construction. Trains, running out of Hankow for a few miles, are also being utilised for the carriage of arms. Even in Pechili villagers are now known to possess rifles and ammunition though it is believed that the distribution has been most general in the provinces of Shensi, Shansi, and Honan.

A revolt will take place in winter, perhaps next winter, when the northern ports are ice-bound, and it will rise in Pechili. Isolated bodies of European and Christians will be massacred. Then the various towns and positions where troops are will be besieged. The total garrison in Pechili next winter will be 7,000 of whom 2,000 will guard the Legations. The remainder will be posted at Shanghai, Tientsin, and elsewhere on the railway. It is not believed that these garrisons will be captured, for they occupy strongly fortified positions, and are amply provisioned, but they will be surrounded by hordes of Chinese and they will not be able to stir outside their defences. Relief must be sent to them by the Powers. Relieving armies will have to fight their way through the country, where every ditch will hide not a boxer but a rifleman.

combined action on a large scale amongst British shipowners might enable them to do that for themselves which foreign shipowners had done for them by their Governments. Professor Alleyne Ireland (Chicago) and Mrs. Archibald Little took part in the discussion. The latter asked whether, in place of subsidies, it was not possible to grant to shipowners monopolies of routes by International agreement for a certain number of years? The President said it would be interesting to know whether the Germans made much money out of their high-speed lines.

EXCITING VOYAGE OF THE S.S. "GLENAGLE."

Upon the arrival of the Northern Pacific liner Glenagle, Captain W. Frakes, at Tacoma, she reported having spoken the four-masted British bark Lawhill, Captain J. C. B. Jarvis, in distress August 8th between Hongkong and Moji. The liner sighted the Lawhill at 10.16 p.m., in latitude 31 degrees 30 minutes north and longitude 126 degrees 15 minutes east in a heavy sea following a typhoon. The Lawhill was a point on the Glenagle port bow and was flying signals of distress, which were promptly answered. She lay on her beam ends, in the trough of the sea with a heavy list of 30 to 35 degrees to starboard, heading to westward. Her spars aloft were apparently intact, but were stripped of sails, those on the foremast hanging in rags. After some difficulty and at a great risk owing to the heavy sea running, the Glenagle's port lifeboat was lowered and sent alongside of the distressed vessel in charge of the first officer. Captain Jarvis reported his ship safe and declined an offer to tow him to Nagasaki, 210 miles distant, but asked that the Glenagle's surgeon be put on board, as the ship's carpenter had fallen from aloft and was seriously injured. Dr. Seely responded and spent several hours with the injured man, rendering all possible aid. The liner then proceeded on her way after having been delayed four hours.

The Lawhill, a vessel of 3,739 tons, left New York, February 27, with a cargo of oil for Shanghai and when sighted in distress was bound from Shanghai to Kobe with a part cargo of oil. Her crew reported that her cargo had shifted during the typhoon which tore every sail to shreds, listing the vessel so that August 7 her yard arms touched the water. She was drifting at the rate of two miles an hour and appeared to be in serious straits so that passengers on the Glenagle wondered that she would never again be heard from. Nevertheless, her captain refused proffered aid, preferring to take chances. The Lawhill was at Tacoma some eight years ago in command of Captain Singer. So far as known she has not been reported since spoken by the Glenagle.

Other than speaking the Lawhill the Glenagle met with no unusual experience this voyage. She left Tacoma June 4 for the Orient via Russia, making Vladivostok in seventeen days, despite the fact that she was running under half pressure owing to the accident to one of her cylinders when last here. She proceeded to Port Arthur, Moji and Hongkong and returned by way of Moji, Kobe and Yokohama and will not receive a new cylinder until she reaches Hongkong this voyage.

MALARIA.

To the Zoological Section of the British Association Major Ronald Ross told the story of malaria. He showed the part which mosquitoes play in its dissemination, and stated that he was convinced the cure lay in the extinction of the mosquito. Every town in the tropics would in a few years be freed of the insect pest, or at least have them visibly reduced in numbers. This would be done by simply clearing away every drop of stagnant water through the towns by means of a gang of men maintained for the purpose by the local municipality. He described the experiments now being carried on in Sierra Leone by the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, assisted with a sum of £2,000 subscribed by a West of Scotland gentleman. The experiments had been in progress for two or three months, with the result that there was already an apparent reduction in the number of mosquitoes, and Lieutenant McKendrick, who had been sent out by the Government of India to follow the work, had not been bitten for a month. He showed specimens of a dangerous kind of mosquito from Liverpool that used to carry malaria in England. Now, however, he said, the fever had been cured by quinine so much, and the source got rid of, that there was no chance of anyone being infected even if he were bitten. The theory that the mosquito was the cause of malaria, oddly enough, had been held by the Romans; and in 1883 King, in America, published a paper suggesting this theory again. Laveran and Koch both made the same suggestion. In 1894 Manson observed that the peculiar forms discovered by Laveran—now called gametocytes—only occurred when the blood was drawn; and he suggested that this form of the parasite was probably the first stage of a fresh evolution of the parasite inside some sucking insect. On the question of the prevention of malaria, he concluded by saying that the sealing up of dwelling houses with gauze blinds, though successful, could not be enforced on the natives of the tropics. Mosquito-nets also were essential for Europeans, and the punkah was most useful. Dr. Koch had suggested dipping every one in the infected district with quinine, but, though that was practicable in many places, it was not possible in towns which had 30,000 native inhabitants. The simplest way to get rid of the mosquito was to keep the town free from every drop of stagnant water, in which the mosquito laid its eggs. That was being done in Sierra Leone with good result.
